Underwood Park History

Glen E. Underwood was born in Phoenix, Arizona and moved to Sacramento in 1946. He attended local high schools and continued his education at California State University Sacramento, where he graduated with a Bachelor's Degree in engineering. As a civil engineer, Glen went to work with the Spink Corporation, and was involved with many local builders in shaping the growing community of Elk Grove. His experience with the development business led to the creation of the Underwood Development Company in 1983. Since its inception, the Underwood Development Company has been responsible for the construction of many homes within the Elk Grove/South Sacramento area.

With experience in the development business, Glen envisioned a community built within a peaceful, natural environment which would enhance the beauty and quality of life of its residents, which is now known as Camden Passage. This development incorporates nearly 58 acres of parks, lakes, nature area, parkways, corridors and medians; 7 times the amount of property required to be dedicated for these purposes by the Quimby Act.

Glen moved to Elk Grove in 1965 and currently resides in Camden Passage. He is the father of 4 children, Susie, Brian, Elizabeth, and Kim. All of his children were graduates of Elk Grove High School and, with the exception of Kim, are current residents of Elk Grove. Glen is also the proud grandfather of 8 which include Brooke, Whitney, Blake and Chase Underwood, Katie Blair, and Joshua, Katelin and Jacob Manley. In his spare time Glen enjoys fishing, golf, duck hunting, and snow skiing.
